Dear Mr. Williamson,

I have been checking through some rather ancient correspondence and found a letter from you dated 3 May 1985 asking for a photograph of Schellinks's drawing of Bridge. I understand that Robin Featherstone replied to you in June explaining that the print she had received from the Photographic Department was poor. As far as I can see, we received no further communication from you. I very much hope that there has been no misunderstanding on our part.

I wonder if you still need a photograph of our drawing? If so I will order some new prints, or, should the negative prove faulty, I will have the drawing re-photographed.

Yours sincerely,

Gillian Kennedy
