Dear Mr Williamson,

Thank you for your letter of the 3rd of this month. I am afraid that it is now a few years since I was heavily involved in researching my book on the East Cheshire silk industry (recently published by the Royal Commission at 14.95) and many of the names have now slipped my mind. However, although the name Gregory does not ring a bell with me it would be worth your while contacting Congleton public library who have several of the early 19th century trade directories for Congleton and also Yates' History of Congleton written in 1822.

I am sorry that I cannot be of more help. Good luck.

Yours Sincerely
