To the PRINTERS of the KENTISH GAZETTE, GENTLEMEN,

YOU having (unintentionally no doubt) made your respectable Paper a vehicle for the propagation of the most unfounded and infamous charges against the integrity of my character, under the signature of W. Pettman, of this Town in Letters inserted in the Kentish Gazette, of Friday and Tuesday last, I have particularly to request that you will do me the justice to publish this full contradiction of the insinuations of perjury therein contained.

I should otherwise be obliged to disprove any thing which Mr. Pettman might assert, if the Report were only circulated in this town, as the character of the author is too well known here, to render refutation necessary; but as the defamation has received the most extensive diffusion through the channel of your columns, I feel that it is highly inconsistent on me to expiate myself by the same means.

Beneath is the true substance of the Affidavit made by me in the prosecution commenced against Mr. Pettman, which relates merely to facts known by every person concerned.

I am, Gentlemen, respectfully,

WM. DRAYSON.

Swaleditch, Feb. 5, 1817.

Affidavit of facts alluded to by Mr. Pettman, and upon which he grounded his false and malicious insinuations:— 1st. That I was a Common Council-man of this Corporation. — 2d. That I had never received any notice from the Mayor that there was a vacancy in the Bench. — 3d. Nor that I received any notice that the Common Assembly of the 27th June was for the purpose of electing a Juror:—and, 4th and lastly, That I was thereby deprived of the opportunity of offering myself for that situation, (had I been disposed so to do) and that, consequently, I was precluded from the exercise of my elective franchises, privileges, &c.

two handsome silver CUPS, one destined for Lord Exmouth, and the other for Sir Hudson Lowe, in gratitude for the security which they have obtained for the Mascalliois commerce.

The Journal de Marsilles states, that the Spanish Army destined for South America was about to depart, the English furnishing vessels for its conveyance.

It continues to be asserted that the Court of Naples has ceded the Island of Lampedusa to the United States of America.

The Pope has sent to Sir Sydney Smith as a present, the enormous key of a prison, in which two subjects of the Roman state were confined, at Algiers.

One of the papers quotes a report from the German Journals, of an intended marriage between the Duke of Kent and the Princess Marie Victoire of Saxe Coburg (born August 17, 1786), Princess Dowager of Linnanges, and eldest sister to Prince Leo-consort of the Princess Charlotte of Wales.

A Dutch Mail arrived on Wednesday. The price of Corn had again fallen at the markets of Antwerp, Louvain and Brussels. The Duke of Wellington is said to be expected at Brussels, but it is supposed, on the other hand, that his Grace will make some stay at Paris.

Lord Exmouth appeared in his place, on Wednesday night, in the House of Lords, when the Lord Chancellor, in dignified and appropriate terms, communicated to the Veteran Hero the unanimous Thanks voted by their Lordships, for his splendid services at Algiers. The answer of Lord Exmouth was delivered with much feeling, but with equal self-possession. The Address of the Lord Chancellor, the Vote of Thanks, and the answer of the Noble Viscount, were ordered to be recorded on the Minutes.

The details of the proceedings in Parliament, on Wednesday evening, are too long for our space this day, we are compelled, therefore, to give an abstract of the most material parts only:—

Committees of Secrecy, to whom the papers, accompanying the late Royal Message, are to be referred, were ballotted for in both Houses. The choice in the Lords fell on the Lord Chancellor, the Lord President (Earl of Harrowby), the Duke of Bedford, the Duke of Montrose, the Earl Fitzwilliam, the Earl of Liverpool, the Earl of Powis, the Earl of St. Germans, Lord Viscount Sidmouth, Lord Grenville, Lord Redensdale.

In the Commons, on Lord Milton, Mr. Ponsonby, Mr. Wm. Elliot, Lord Castlereagh, Lord Lascelles, Mr. C. Bathurst, Hon. Mr. Lamb, Sir Arthur Pig-gott, Mr. F. Robinson, Sir John Nicholls, The Attorney-General, The Solicitor-General, Mr. Geo.
Canning, Mr. Chas. Yorke, Mr. Wilbraham Egerton, Mr. Wilberforce, Mr. Bootle Wilbraham, Mr.
Wm. Dundas, Mr. Rose, Sir Wm. Curtis, Admiral Frank.

Some allusion being made in the Commons, to the Loan lately proposed between France and some mercantile houses in this country.

The Chancellor of the Exchequer said, he had no hesitation in declaring Government had not directly nor indirectly given any pledge in that transaction, nor any guarantee of any kind—(hear, hear!)

Mr. Tierney wished to know whether they had not countenanced the Loan? No answer being given, Mr. Ponsonby said Government could not guarantee any such Loan without the sanction of Parliament, but he wished to know whether they had not countenanced the transaction?

The Chancellor of the Exchequer, in a very low tone observed, that any Foreign Government was surely at full liberty to borrow from monied individuals in this country, but it did not follow as the consequence of such a transaction, that the Government of the country was a party. He repeated his former declaration, that Ministers had not directly or indirectly given any pledge or security on the Loan, and (was understood to add) had not countenanced it in the least.
