BEKESBOURNE is a parish and village, on the Little Stour, with a station on the South Eastern and Chatham railway, 3 miles east-south-east from Canterbury and 59 from London by road and 64½ by railway, in the Eastern division of the county, lathe of St. Augustine, Bridge hundred and union, petty sessional division and county court district of Canterbury, rural deanery of East Bridge, and archdeaconry and diocese of Canterbury, and is also partly in the city and county of the city of Canterbury. This parish is a member of the Cinque port of Hastings and was formerly a borough. The church of St. Peter is in the Norman, Early English and later styles, and has a tower containing 6 bells: in the church are memorials to the families of Palmer, Hales, Fagge, Eden and Gardner and various memorial windows: the church was restored in 1882-8 at a cost of about £3,000, and has 150 sittings, about 100 being free. The register dates from the year 1558. The living is a vicarage, net income £200, with residence, in the gift of the Archbishop of Canterbury, and held since 1898 by the Rev. Albert Richard Pritchard M.A. of Lincoln College, Oxford. In this parish is the Sanatorium of the Bridge Rural District Council. The Old Palace, an ancient house, formerly a country residence of the Archbishops of Canterbury, is now in the occupation of Col. Evelyn Campbell Money. George Bowdler Gippes esq. of 23 Prince Edward mansions, Palace court, London W., who is lord of the manor, and the Marquess Conyngham are the principal landowners. The soil is clay, gravel and chalk; subsoil, chalk. The chief crops are wheat, barley, oats and hops. The area is 1,115 acres; assessable value, £1,953; the population in 1901 was 330.

BELVEDERE (or Lessness Heath) and Abbey Wood, is an ecclesiastical parish, formed in 1861 from the civil parish of Erith; it has a station on the North Kent section of the South Eastern and Chatham railway, and is 1 mile west from Erith, 4 north-west from Dartford, and 12 from London, in the North Western division of the county, Lessness hundred, lathe of Sutton-at-Hone, petty sessional division, union and county court district of Dartford, rural deanery of East Dartford, archdeaconry of Maidstone and diocese of Canterbury, and jurisdiction of the Metropolitan Police. The parish extends to the banks of the Thames, and is lighted with oil lamps by the Erith Urban Council, and supplied with water from Crayford by the Kent Water Company. All Saints' church, Erith road, is of cut flint with stone dressings, in the Early English style, and has a western tower with spire, containing a clock and one bell: there are four stained windows: the church will seat 600 persons, 280 sittings being free. The register dates from the year 1861. The living is a vicarage, net yearly value £380, with residence, in the gift of three trustees, and held since 1892 by the Rev. Frederick Nugent Eden M.A. of Pembroke College, Cambridge. St. Augustine's iron church, erected upon the marshes, has an organ formerly in Lambeth Palace chapel: there are 300 sittings. Here is a Congregational chapel erected in 1865 with 300 sittings, two Baptist chapels, one in Bexley road, built in 1863, seating 240, and another in Abbey road, erected in 1899 with 200 seats, also a Primitive Methodist chapel and one for Plymouth Brethren. The Public Hall, in Erith road, built in 1871 at a cost of £1,500, is of ashlar and flint stone in the Early English style: the hall will seat 300 persons, and has ante and committee rooms; The Royal Alfred Aged Merchant Seamen's Institution, founded in 1865, and opened January, 1867, is pleasantly situated in 24 acres of ground, commanding a view of the river; it serves as an asylum for indigent merchant seamen, of not less than 65 years of age, and is available for 500 inmates: there are now about 100 who are fed and clothed, and also about 250 out-pensioners, each of whom receives £12 yearly: Captain John Dowdy, house governor. In Belvedere Park is a masonic lodge. The Belvedere and Abbey Wood Provident Dispensary, established in 1855, was made provident in 1888, and is supported by voluntary contributions.

The population of the ecclesiastical parish in 1891 was 4,789 and in 1901, 9,826.

ABBEY WOOD lies to the west and has a station on the North Kent (South Eastern and Chatham) railway; near it is Bostall Heath, a tract 155 acres in extent, situated on the table land which bounds the Thames marshes below Plumstead and commanding a pleasant prospect: it is under the control of the London County Council as an open place. St. Mary's iron mission church, erected in 1888 at a cost of £180, will hold 200 people. Post & M. O. & T. O., T. M. O., Express Delivery, Parcel Post, S. BIRLING is a parish and village, at the foot of the chalk hills, 2 miles north-east from Malling station on the Swanley Junction and Maidstone section of the South Eastern and Chatham railway, 2 south-west from Snodland station on the North Kent line, 8 south-west from Rochester and 7 north-west from Maidstone, in the Mid division of the county, Aylesford lathe, Larkfield hundred, Malling petty sessional division and union, Maidstone county court district, rural deanery of North Malling, and archdeaconry of Maidstone. Birling is watered by a small stream rising near Birling Place, and flows into the Medway. The church of All Saints is a building of Kentish rag, principally Perpendicular in style, and has a tower containing a clock and 8 bells, and several stained windows, as well as memorials of the Nevill family: the church affords upwards of 400 sittings. The register dates from the year 1558. The living is a vicarage, net yearly value £153, including residence and 16 acres of glebe, in the gift of the Marquess of Abergavenny K.G. and held since 1896 by the Rev. Theodore Augustus Eden Williamson M.A. of Corpus Christi college, Cambridge. Christ Church, a chapel of ease, at Lower Birling, erected in 1893, is in the Early English style. The site and burial ground were given by the Rev. Canon Coulson M.A. of Guildford. Birling Manor, the residence of the Hon. Ralph Pelham Nevill D.L., J.P. (lord of the manor and principal landowner), is an extensive mansion, in a modern Gothic style, with grounds of about 70 acres. The Marquess of Abergavenny

BRIDGE is a parish, and head of a union, giving its name to a rural deanery; it derives its name from its situation in a valley on the Roman and modern road to Dover, at a bridge over a feeder of the Stour, with a station on the Canterbury and Folkestone line of the South Eastern and Chatham railway, and is 1½ miles south from Bekesbourne station on the same system, and 2½ south-east from Canterbury, in the Eastern division of the county, lathe of St. Augustine, hundred of Bridge and Petham, petty sessional division of St. Augustine's, Canterbury, Canterbury county court, rural deanery of East Bridge, archdeaconry and diocese of Canterbury. The village is lighted with gas by a local limited company. The church of St. Peter is of flint, in the Norman style, with some additions of the Early English period, and has a tower, with spire, containing a clock and 4 bells: the windows are stained: within a recess is a recumbent effigy of a man in robes, in low relief: the church was repaired and partly rebuilt about 1860, and affords 350 sittings, 80 being free. The register dates from the year 1565. The living is a vicarage, annexed to the vicarage of Patricxbourne, joint net yearly value £320, with 33 acres of glebe and residence, in the gift of the Marquess Conyngham, and held since 1898 by the Rev. Herbert Knight M.A. of Christ's College, Cambridge, who resides at Patricxbourne. The Wesleyan chapel, built in 1894, is of corrugated iron and wood, and seats 150 persons. The principal landowners are the Marquess Conyngham, who is lord of the manor, Earl Sondes and Matthew Bell esq. D.L., J.P. of Bourne Place. The soil is chalky; subsoil, chalk. The chief crops are wheat, barley, oats and hops. The area is 1,268 acres; assessable value, £3,107; the population in 1901 was 775, including 8 officials and 89 inmates in the workhouse.

BROADSTAIRS with ST. PETER'S.

BROADSTAIRS, anciently called "Bradstow," is a pleasant little town and watering place, with a station on the South Eastern and Chatham railway, 2½ miles north from Ramsgate, 72 from London and 3½ south-west from Margate, situated on a small bay on the eastern coast of the Isle of Thanet, and within the civil parish of St. Peter, in the rural deanery of Westbere, and archdeaconry and diocese of Canterbury; it was from 1879 under a Local Board, but is now governed, under the "Local Government Act, 1894" (56 and 57 Vict. c. 73), by a District Council of twelve members. In pursuance of an Order of the County Council, made in 1894, the name of the Urban District was altered to Broadstairs and St. Peter's, and in 1895 was divided into two wards, Broadstairs and St. Peter's. The modern extension of the town of Broadstairs has a fine promenade on the summit of low cliffs, but in the older part the streets are narrow and tortuous. Both Broadstairs and St. Peter's are lighted with gas and by electricity by a company, and supplied with water from works erected in 1859 and extended in 1876, the property of the Urban District Council; the water is obtained from wells. The ecclesiastical parish was formed out of St. Peter's on Sept. 27, 1850. The church of the Holy Trinity, erected in 1840 as a chapel of ease to St. Peter's, is of flint with stone facing in the Early English style, and has a tower containing a clock and one bell: there are 750 sittings, 318 being free. The register of baptisms dates from the year 1850. The living was declared a rectory Dec. 6, 1867, net yearly value £190, with residence, built in 1870, in the gift of the vicar of St. Peter's, and held since 1896 by the Rev. Francis Thomas Shapley Mills M.A. of Jesus College, Cambridge. The Catholic church, St. Peter's Park road, is dedicated to Our Lady Star of the Sea. There is a Baptist chapel in High street, founded in 1790, with 250 sittings, and one in Queen's road, built in 1897, having seats for 170; a Congregational chapel, erected in 1876, with 300 sittings; a Wesleyan chapel and a preaching room belonging to the Brethren. The Maisonette is the residence of Sir Richard Henry Wyatt D.L., J.P. Bleak House, standing in a prominent position on the cliff, is stated to be associated with the novel, "Bleak House," of the late Charles Dickens. There is a bathing establishment and libraries, as well as marine villas and many lodging houses. The Grand Hotel contains every convenience: the Albion is also a good hotel and there are several inns. York gate, an ancient arch of flint-work, once forming part of the defences of the place, was built by George Cullmer about 1540, and repaired in 1795 by Sir John Henniker bart. the portcullis and gates have disappeared; near it are the remains of a chapel dedicated to Our Lady of Bradstow and once containing an image held in great veneration by mariners, who were wont to salute it in passing by

BELTINGE.

Names will be found in Reculver Road from Blacksole, distant one and a half miles from the Bay, and approached by way of Mickleburgh Hill or Beltinge Road and Downs. Here are situate the Passmore Edwards Homes of Friendly Societies and Railway Men, situate upon high elevation and built with every modern improvement, and standing in extensive ground. Also a Baptist Chapel, in connection with High Street, pastor, Rev. J. S. Geale.

Beltinge Post Office—Smith, Mrs.
 Baptist Chapel—Services, Sundays, 11 and 6.

BISHOPSBOURNE.

Post Town, Canterbury. Bishopsbourne is a parish four miles south-east from Canterbury, and about half-a-mile off the Dover road, with a station on the Elham Valley section of the South-Eastern Railway. The parish is also crossed by the main road from Canterbury to Dover. The church of St. Mary was restored and reseated in 1872 at a cost of £1600. In 1877 a beautiful stone reredos was added at a cost of £300. An object of great interest is a memorial to Richard Hooker (M.A.), author of the celebrated "Ecclesiastical Polity," and who was rector of Bishopsbourne from 1595 to 1600, the date of his death. The living is a Rectory in the gift of the Archbishop of Canterbury, and at present held by the Rev. Wm. Blissard (M.A.). Bourne Park is the seat of Matthew Bell, Esq. (J.P.), lord of the manor. Charlton Park is the seat of Capt. John Cecil de Veil Tattersall. The Barham Downs Golf Links occupy about thirty-six acres to the north-east of the village. The club was founded in 1890, and consists of about 100 members. The links are situated on the Barham Downs, commanding splendid views in every direction. It is a nine-hole course. The subsoil is chalk, which ensures a dry course at all times of the year, and the turf is of the finest description. The monthly medal is competed for on the last Thursday in each month, besides which meetings are held in the spring, summer and autumn, when many valuable prizes are offered for competition. The nearest station is Bishopsbourne, on the Elham Valley branch of the S.E.R., and about half-a-mile from the Links. The distance from Canterbury is three-and-a-half miles. There is a small club-house for the use of members.

Rateable value, £2020. The population in 1901 was 279.

BRIDGE.

Post Town, Canterbury. This village enjoys a pleasant situation about three miles from Canterbury on the main road—the old Roman road—to Dover.

There is a station about half-a-mile distant on the Elham Valley line from Canterbury to Folkestone. The Church of St. Peter is a handsome building with tall spire, and the interior is also striking. The village consists principally of one long street, which is intersected by an affluent of the river Stour. The living is a Vicarage annexed to that of Patricbourne, in the gift of the Marquis Conyngham, and is held by the Rev. Hubert Knight (M.A.). Bridge gives name to a Union, and there are National Schools for the united parishes of Bridge and Patricbourne. The population is nearly 900. The village is lighted by gas, and possesses a Volunteer Fire Brigade with the necessary appliances.

CHARTHAM.

Post Town, Canterbury. Chartham is a large parish, with a somewhat scattered population of 3000. The principal portion lies about three miles west from Canterbury, and has a station on the South-Eastern Railway. The river Stour runs through the village, and on it, near the Church, are the extensive paper mills of Messrs. Howard and Son, giving employment to a large number of hands.

The East Kent Lunatic Asylum was erected in 1875 on Chartham Downs, at a cost of £250,000, from designs by Messrs. Giles and Gough. It consists of central entrance, with offices and committee-rooms, two blocks on either side, six in the rear, and a chapel in the centre. There is accommodation for 440 males and 465 females. Three blocks were added to the Asylum in 1893, at a cost of £40,000. The average number now is 1200. The Asylum forms a conspicuous feature in the landscape from the railway, and for some miles around. Medical Supt., Dr. Fitzgerald; Assistant Medical Officers, Dr. Everett, Dr. Shera and Dr. Fostwyck, Chaplain, Rev. Neville A. Holt (B.A.). Clerk to the Visitors, Mr. H. Fielding.
