

reprimand us, not those who flatter us.

Flatter not yourself in your faith to God, if you want charity to your neighbour; and think you have charity for your neighbour, if you want faith to God; where they are not both together, they are both wanting; they are both dead if once divided.

If you have providence to foresee a danger, let your prudence rather prevent it, than fear it; the fear of future evils, bring oftentimes a present mischief; whilst you seek to prevent it, practise to bear it; he is a wise man, who can avoid an evil; he is a patient man that can endure it, and he is a valiant man, that can conquer it.

Accustom your palate to what is most usual, he that delights in varieties must often feed displeas'd, and lie at the mercy of a dear market; common food nourishes best; delicacies please most; the sound stomach prefers neither; what is any man worse for the last years plain diet, or what now the better for the last great feast.

If any man can convince you of an error, be very glad to change your opinion; for truth is your business, and right information hurts no one. It is he that continues in ignorance and mistake, who receives the mischief.

That all the good and evil of this life depend, in a great measure, upon the various passions incident to men's minds, there need no other document, than their dear bought experience, which has too often convinced them, that while, out of weakness they have suffered themselves to be seduced, and transported by the excess of their affections; they have fallen into errors that have more dejected their spirits than a long succession of misfortunes could ever do; and from whence no fruit could be expected, but that of shame, sorrow and repentance. It is a great mistake when men contribute their errors to the want of an omniscient understanding; they have, in the conduct we have suggested by passion, which might be remedied by true generosity, and a steady belief of, and tranquil dependance upon, divine Providence.

In the commission of evil fear no man so much as your own self; another is but one witness against you; but you are equal to a thousand; another you may avoid, but yourself you cannot avoid; wickedness is its own punishment.

If any one speak evil of you, flee home to your own conscience and examine your heart; if you be guilty it is just correction; if not guilty, it is fair instruction; makes use of both; so you shall distill honey out of gall; and out of an open enemy make a secret friend.

Happy are those men who live without ambition, distrust or disguise; and happy is he who limits his desires to a private and peaceable manner of life, wherein it is less difficult to be virtuous.

The best provision for a happy life, is to dissect every thing; view it on all sides, and divide it into matter and form; to practise honesty in good earnest, and speak truth from the very soul of you; and when you have so done, live easy and cheerful; and crowd one good action so close to another, that there may not be the least empty or insignificant space between them.

Happy is he who lives satisfied with himself, assured that he serves God in the manner that he will be served.

A man may be happy any where, that knows how to be contented; Nature is served with little, and we ought to regulate our irregular appetites as foreigners; if our fortune be not extended to the large measure of our wishes, it is easy to contract, and adequate our minds to our fortune.

No man can call himself happy till the hour of death; which alone relieves us from all human miseries.

He that cannot live happily any where, will live happily no where; for a man's cares will find him out, let him travel where he will.

He that will be truly happy, must think his own lot best; and so live with men as if God saw him, and he speak to God as if men heard him.

Practise in health to bear sickness, and endeavour in your life to entertain death; he that hath a will to die, not having a power to live, shews necessity, not virtue. It is the glory of a great mind to embrace pangs, in the very arms of pleasure. What name of virtue merits he, that goes when he is driven?

A certain Philosopher used to say, that health was given by drachms, and diseases by pounds, that he arrived to old age by living prudently.

No man ever was a loser by good works; for though he may not immediately be rewarded, yet in process of time, some happy emergency or other, occurs to convince him, that virtuous men are the darlings of Providence.

Good husbandry is commendable at all times, but the most requisite in times of public necessity; and he that cannot sometimes spare, as well as spend, will never arrive at a great fortune; nor keep it, though it be his inheritance. Consider with yourself what is the image and character of for doing, as he could not himself have effected it before the snow came on.

FROST.

It may not be unentertaining at this season of the year, to recapitulate briefly the several instances of remarkable frosts, from the earliest periods to the present time.

In the year 220, the first in Britain lasted five months.

-- 250, the Thames was frozen over nine weeks.

-- 329, most of the rivers in Britain were frozen six weeks.

-- 359, there was a severe frost in Scotland, which lasted fourteen weeks.

-- 401, the Euxine sea was frozen over for twenty days.

-- 508, there was so severe a frost all over Britain, that the rivers were frozen up for above two months.

-- 558, there happened so great a frost that the Danube was frozen over.

-- 695 the Thames was frozen over for six weeks, when booths were built upon it.

-- 763, a great frost at Constantinople began in October, and lasted to February; the two seas there were frozen 100 miles from shore.

-- 827, a great frost in England, which lasted nine weeks.

-- 850, carriages were used on the Adriatic sea.

-- 908, most of the rivers in England were frozen for two months.

-- 923, the Thames was frozen thirteen weeks.

-- 987, one that lasted 120 days, beginning Dec. 22.

-- 998, the Thames was frozen over for five weeks.

-- 1035, a frost on Midsummer-day, so vehement that the corn and fruits were destroyed.

-- 1063, the Thames frozen fourteen weeks.

-- 1076, a severe frost in England, from November to April.

-- 1114, several bridges in England being then of timber, broken down by a frost.

-- 1205, a frost from January 14 to March 22.

-- 1296, the sea between Norway and the promontory of Scagerrit frozen over.

-- 1402, the Baltic was quite frozen over from Pomerania to Denmark.

In 1409, a severe frost with deep snow, which lasted fifteen weeks, and killed the small birds.

In 1416, the Baltic was frozen over.

In 1459, the Baltic again frozen over, so that the people travelled on the ice, from Denmark to Lubec, Willmar, Rostock, and Stralsund.

In 1534, the Thames frozen some miles below Gravesend, and fish and merchandize arriving at the mouth of the Thames, were obliged to be brought by land carriage through Kent and Essex, to London; it began in November, and lasted till February.

In 1683, another great frost for thirteen weeks.

In 1709, a great frost for three months, with heavy snows, from December to March.

In 1716, a great frost, when a fair was held on the Thames.

In 1739, a remarkable frost began on Christmas-eve, and lasted nine weeks, when all sorts of carriages went upon the Thames, and all manner of diversions were carried on upon the ice. This is generally called the Great Frost of 1740, lasting 100 days.

In 1763, the frost lasted ninety-four days.

In 1779, it lasted eighty-four days.

In 1784, it lasted eighty-nine days--and

In 1785, it lasted one hundred and fifteen days, being twelve days more than 1740.

The present frost has lasted about seven weeks. The accounts from the North of Europe represent it as dreadful. The Thames has been repeatedly walked over, not only at Brentford and Putney, but at Execution Dock, and opposite the Custom-house.

Such is the severity of the frost, that passages on the ice across the Thames, are now to be seen in many places; and amongst others, at Gun Dock, Execution Dock, &c. where they are strewn upon the ice quite across the river, as well to denote the footway, as to prevent persons from slipping.

On Friday a large pig was roasted upon one of these, by which many persons came to see, from both the Kentish and Middlesex shores.

The ice on the Thames is really entertaining; from Putney-bridge upwards, the river is completely frozen over, and people walk to and from the different villages on the face of the deep. Opposite to Windfor-street, booths have been erected since Friday last, and a fair is kept on the river. Multitudes of people are continually passing and repassing; puppet shows, roundabouts, and all the various amusements of a London Fair are exhibited. In short, Putney

In the whole kingdom of Russia (says a correspondent) there are only twenty-five Apothecaries, and not one Man-midwife, yet strange to tell, it is one of the most populous countries in the world.

The Empress has improved upon our Foundling Hospital, for at Petersburg the mother may come privately, be delivered secretly, and leave her child to the State, as a parent more capable of watching over its welfare.

Actions are ordered to be immediately commenced against two dealers of note for clandestinely sending wheat and flour out of the kingdom, contrary to the statute.

There is not a little singularity in the Report of the Committee appointed to examine into the condition of the House of Lords, when they pronounced it "incapable of any useful improvement!" The oddity will not be diminished when we state the reasons which the architects assign;—it is infected with a dry rot.

CANTERBURY, July 28.

The Grand Match of Cricket between Lord Winchelsea and Sir Horace Mann, for a thousand guineas, began playing on Wednesday last, at Uxbridge. It proved entirely a one-sided game: Lord Winchelsea beat Sir Horace ten notches at one innings.

Last Tuesday a coach and four horses were seized at Gravesend by some revenue officers, in which they found upwards of four hundred weight of snuff and tobacco.—County Chron.

Wednesday morning Mr. Edward Fowle, of Boxley, was found drowned in a pond in his garden.—The Coroner's Jury returned their verdict Accidental Death.

Thursday last died, in a very advanced age, at her house in Queen-street, May-Fair, the Right Hon. Viscountess Say and Sele.

Last week died at Cambridge, after a long illness, Miss Lydia Wall, daughter of Mr. Wall, Surgeon, of the above town, and sister to the Rev. Mr. Wall, of this city.

A few days since died Mr. Iden Henham, of East Packham, an eminent farmer, in the 89th year of his age.

A few days since died at Walmer, Mr. William Marsh, aged 75, master carpenter of that place.

THURSDAY, AUG 15.
LONDON
FRENCH CABINET.

THE new arrangement of the French Cabinet is completely on the English model.—All interior councils are suppressed, and the Cabinet is composed avowedly of the following Ministers, who are all responsible for every measure of State.

M. Acker—Minister of the finances, or what in England we call First Lord of the Treasury.

M. Montmarin—Secretary for the foreign department.

M. St. Priest—Secretary for the home department.

M. de La Luzerne—Minister of the marine department.

M. le Comte de la Tour du Pin Paulin—Minister of the war department.

M. l'Archeveque de Bourdeaux, Keeper of the Seal.

M. l'Archeveque de Vienne—Minister for the Bishopsricks and Abbies.

M. le Prince de Beauveau—To be of the Council, but with no particular department.

The Dutch and Flanders mails arrived to day, confirm the accounts of the disturbances in the Emperor's dominions.

At Louvain it is feared much blood has been shed, as the students and town's people on one side were determined to resist the new regulations made by the Emperor for the government of that University, and the troops on the other hand appeared to be disposed to enforce them.

The houses of several merchants, and others, who were known or suspected to be Royalists, were all destroyed, and the furniture, &c. a prey to the flames.

The fury of the people raged uncontrolled for twenty-four hours, at the end of which time their strength, being nearly exhausted, they desisted and returned home, at the request of the principal inhabitants of Tirl-mont, but not until they had destroyed thirty-seven of the best houses in the town.

The Count d'Artois' children are at Liege. They arrived there on the 1st instant.

A letter from Hamburgh, dated July 31, mentions, that the Russian and Swedish fleets met, near the islands of Goehland and Bornholm, the 20th of that month, in a calm sea and weather, when an engagement took place, which lasted till nine in the evening; the firing appeared on land to be so great, that it was supposed both fleets must have suffered dreadfully. No particulars, however, had transpired when the accounts came away.

Notwithstanding the lateness of the Session, it is thought they will be called together as soon after Christmas as possible, in order to take into consideration some objects not yet ripe for discussion, as well as to go through the ordinary business of the current year, previous to a dissolution.

The partial changes in the subordinate branches of Administration, though already known, will not take place till after the prorogation.

There is reason to believe that the English Cabinet will be new modelled. That a compromise has taken place between Mr. Pitt and the Chancellor, by which the latter is to have another friend in the Cabinet, and it is not unlikely but Lord Weymouth, with the title of Marquis, will be Secretary of State in the room of the Duke of Leeds, who will go to France as Ambassador.

A total stop is put to the foreign orders for corn and flour, the harvests in France and Holland having begun, and are likely to be abundant.

Fisher, who many years ago murdered his friend Mr Penny, of Gray's Inn, and after robbing him escaped, is at this day living and thriving at Rome, on the Piazza di Spanga, where he keeps a grocer's shop. He is now 90, and has several children grown ... with Sir Horace Mann at Bourn Place, at six o'clock yesterday evening.

This day the Cricketing begins at Bourn Paddock, where a great deal of company is expected: We hear that Sir Horace, with his usual liberality, has made ample provision for the hospitable entertainment of his numerous guests, and among other conveniences, has caused a tent to be erected in the field that will dine one hundred persons.

An important question to the navigators of the English Channel came on to be tried last week at Maidstone. It was an action brought by some Fishermen of Deal, against the Owners of a Dutch Vessel stranded on the Goodwin Sands, to recover a compensation in salvage for bringing ashore in the boats a quantity of silver coin.

For the Fishermen it was contended, that they ought to be paid a proportionable part of the subject saved, and not merely a compensation for their labour.

For the Defendants it was argued, that there was no danger in the business, as the weather was moderate, and that a liberal reward for the hire of the two boats for the time employed in the service was the true measure of the damages.

Lord Loughborough left the whole question to the Jury, with great perplexity: and they brought in their verdict for a seventh of the whole money, which being above 30,000l. made the verdict near 5000l. This seems a very high sum; but besides that it appeared to be warranted by the evidence of similar cases, it is thought to be advantageous to the Public, that adventurers of that sort who cannot be forced to go off to sea to persons in distress, should be induced to it by the prospect of a large reward.

The paragraph lately inserted in our paper, which we copied from a London one, mentioning the stopping of a vessel off Dover with 200 sacks of flour, we have good authority to say, is without any just foundation.

On Tuesday last a poor woman in the workhouse at Tenterden, was found hanging in her apartment. The Coroner's Inquest Lunacy.

Thursday last was married at Wye, by the Rev. Mr. Symons, the Rev. Mr. Robert Parsons, to Miss Hughes.

Thursday morning was married at St. Margaret's church, Rochester, Mr. John Irwin, (senior) blockmaker of this town, and contractor for blockmakers goods to his Majesty's yards at this port and Shermess, to Mrs Patten, (a widow Lady), relict of the late Mr. Francis Patten of St. Margaret's Bark.

Thursday died at Ashford, Mr. William Walter, in the 19th year of his age.

On Tuesday and Wednesday last a grand match of Cricket was played at Coxheath, East Kent against West Kent. Boorman given to East Kent, with four men out of Hampshire, and four men given to West Kent out of Surrey. The following is the the bodies of armed citizens, &c. the following curious particulars relative to their original, and connection with British officers, customs, &c. not being commonly known, may amuse our readers.

The French Genis d'Armesie was raised by the Nobles in the reign of Charles VII. of France; they consisted of 15 troops of 150 men each: every one of these had five attendants, three archers, a sutler, and a page, all on horse-back.

Of those, afterwards, two troops were called the Scotch and English—the former said to be the oldest; their first Colonel was John Stuart, Lord Darnly, in 1422; and the last British, James Duke of York, who, in 1667, resigned it to Lewis XIV. But a custom gradually taking place after this period, that none but French should belong to this body, all that remains of Scotch in it at present is, that at the roll-call the answer to every name is HAMIER, viz. I am here. Its standard is a large greyhound running in a plain, with this motto, "In omni modo fidelis."

The device of the English troop, given to Lord George Hamilton, after the Duke of York's resignation in 1667, is a sun, with a flight of eagles soaring towards it.

The general device of the household troops is a thunder-bolt, with these words, "Quo jubet irrat Jupiter."

CANTERBURY, Aug. 14.

As much mischief has lately been done in several of our hop-grounds, by the bines being cut, either wantonly or maliciously, the Planters are determined to offer a reward for the discovery of the offenders who will certainly be prosecuted with the utmost rigour of the law; and that no person may plead ignorance of the statute in that behalf made, the following clause is published for general information:

By the stat. 6 Geo. 2d. ch. 37, s. 6, it is enacted, "That if any person or persons shall unlawfully and maliciously cut any hop-bines growing on poles in any plantation of hops, every person or persons so offending, being thereof lawfully convicted, shall be adjudged guilty of felony, and shall suffer death as in cases of felony, without benefit of clergy."

On Saturday evening a woman was seen pulling up the Hopbines of Mr. Richard Shepherd of Maidstone, but on account of a person last Assizes who was tried and committed for a similar offence, (as the law in that case referred to the cutting only) she was suffered to pass.

A correspondent wishes to remark to the Hop-planters, Justices, &c. who may detect any person committing the like depredations, to prosecute them on the Nurserymen and Gardeners Act, as amended this present Session of Parliament, as the Act to prevent cutting of Hopbines being of an older date, and the preservation of plants, &c. being newly provided for, "It is enacted that any person who shall wilfully or maliciously steal, break down, destroy, or carry away any Roots, Trees, or Plants, in any Nursery, Garden, or other inclosed Ground, shall be guilty of Felony, and Transported for Seven Years."

N. B. It is the given Rule of all Botanists, that the Hop is an Herbaceous Plant.

At our Market on Saturday last, Hops of the ensuing crop, were sold, Pockets from eight pound five to eight guineas per hundred, and from the present decline of the bloom, the sellers may probably repent at those prices.

His Grace the Duke of Dorset passed through this city on Wednesday, from the seat of Sir Horace Mann, at Bourn, to London, accompanied by his fair nieces, the two Ladies Tufton, to whom his Grace is Guardian.—His Grace will be at the house of the Earl of Thanet in Grosvenor-square.

No public business whatever is the cause of the Duke's visit to England, but his own private affairs. His Grace would have been in London some months ago, had it not been for the troubles in France.—Perhaps no Ambassador from this or any other country ever left Paris with so much credit, or was ever so generally beloved by the people of that country.

On Monday last at Hollinghourn, as a child about five years of age, was putting some wood on the fire its clothes were caught by the flame, and had not its mother been in the next room and heard its cries would very soon have been burnt to death, but was providentially not hurt by having timely assistance.

Monday was married at Greenwich, Charles Stirling, Esq; of the Royal Navy, youngest son of Walter Stirling, to Miss Charlotte Grote, second daughter of the late Andrew Grote, Esq; of Blackheath.

Last week was married Mr. Tickner, farmer, Stodmarsh, to Miss Hawks, of Brook, near Wingham. Saturday was married at Upper Deal, Mr. John Verrier, to Miss Mary Fagg, both of that place.

Tuesday was married, by the Rev. Mr. Johnson, Miss Mary Garner, to Mr. Richard Foreman, boat-builder, both of Whitstable.

Yesterday was married Mr. Robert Thompson, Attorney at Law, of Dover, to Miss Taunton, of the same place.

The anonymous intelligence from Dymchurch cannot be inserted.

WHITE and RED DROPS. DICKINSON'S CEPHALIC DROPS FOR Convulsion Fits, the Small-Pox, &c. The White Drops are of great service in Convulsion Fits, the Falling Sickness, Apoplexy, &c. and in all nervous Cases. In the Small-pox and Measles, they are particularly useful in softening and ripening the Pock, and keeping up the Spirits. The late Archbishop of Vienna, speaking of the Usefulness of this Medicine in a Letter to the Hon. the Count de Saxe, writes, that in the eighteenth Year of his Majesty's reign, he took it to be one of the most excellent Remedies in the World for Convulsion Fits in Men, Women, and Children; and was persuaded it will be for the Good of Mankind to have it made more common. And in other Letters his Grace declared, he had recommended these Drops to many with good Success; and that he had more Reason than any Man to bless God for the Use of them. The Drops are sold at FIVE SHILLINGS a Bottle, Duty included, by SIMMONS and KIRBY, Canterbury; and may be had (Carriage-free) of the Newsmen

For the TEETH and GUMS. Further Proof of the Efficacy of DR. STEERS'S OPODELDOC.

COUNT ZIMONIO acquaints Mr. STEERS, that he has received extraordinary Benefit from Dr. STEERS'S Opoedoc, in the Cure of a violent Bruise and Sprain in his Right Hand and Wrist, occasioned by a Fall from his Phaeton a few Days ago; and he gives him Liberty to make Use of his Name for the Good of the Public

Royal Hotel, Pall-mall, July 2, 1789. The Superior Excellence of this Medicine for Sprains, Bruises, Rheumatisms, &c. is now so universally established by the Testimonies of Persons of the first consequence, that no further Recommendation, perhaps, may be requisite; but it is become absolutely necessary to guard the Public against the Impositions which are practised by sundry Druggists in Town and Country; and by travelling Venders, under various Pretences, many of whom have the Audacity to employ the Names of Dr. Steers and Mr. Newbery, in Order to dispose of their spurious Preparations. All Purchasers, therefore, who would avail themselves of the Efficacy of the Genuine Dr. STEERS'S Opoedoc, are requested to observe, that in the Stamp, which is pasted on each Bottle, the Name of F. Newbery is engraved, by Order of the Commissioners of the Stamp Office; and all such as are offered to Sale, without this Mark of Authentication, are Counterfeits.

The Genuine Dr. STEERS'S Opoedoc is sold in London only by the Proprietors, H. STEERS, (son of the late Dr. Steers) the Inventor, at No. 10, Old Bond-street, and F. NEWBERY, at the only Warehouse for Dr. JAMES'S POWDER, in St. Dunstons Church-yard, No. 45, a few Doors from the Corner of Exchange, towards St. Andrew's Church. Price Two Shillings a Bottle. Sold also by SIMMONS and KIRBY, and W. DRIFLOW at Canterbury; and by the appointed Venders of Mr. Newbery's Medicines in other Country Towns.

This letter was read in the Assembly, with much apparent satisfaction, and was ordered to be printed and published, to confirm in the minds of the people the impression of the honourable conduct of the English nation, which the Duke's first letter had successfully made.

NATIONAL ASSEMBLY.

Friday, August 7.

The Game Laws came next to be discussed. Some difficulties occurred on the danger of making the right of sporting too general. It was said that hunting, which easily became a passion, might divert the cultivator from the painful labours of the soil. To this it was answered, that the profit of hunting was not much—that the profit of agriculture was immense, and that consequently the farmer would not relinquish that which would be greatly beneficial to him for that which would yield but little.—That in countries, like the Swiss Cantons, where hunting was freely permitted, it made the pleasure of every farmer, but not the occupation. That in England, where a farmer might so easily, and at so small a price, obtain a licence to sport, it was rare that such licence was called for.

It was objected besides, that it was not the farmer that would profit from the freedom of sporting, but the vagabond. To this it was answered that the vagabond has neither settlement or land, and that hunting be confined to possessors of goods or lands, it is in both prohibited to vagabonds.

It was objected again, that by giving freedom to the sports of the field, they in fact gave a right to the subject to carry arms, a freedom which is so capable of abuse. To this it was answered, that wearing a sword in dress, or using fire-arms, was a distinction among gentlemen, and consequently permitted in the kingdom. That if it was permitted to one description of persons to bear arms, it should be to all, since in a nation divided into men armed, and men unarmed, it is pretty certain that the one will soon become the masters of the other. That the persons armed are not those who have used daggers, stilettoes, poniards, and who have been guilty of so many assassinations. That in its very birth, if liberty has burst forth like a torrent in the midst of lightnings and thunders, it will soon soften and polish the heart of man when it shall be settled and calm. That, in fine, to carry arms was either the right of all, or the right of none; and that they ought to be denied to none but to him who abuses them. These last considerations, respecting the right of bearing arms, were postponed to a future day; and, in the mean time, the Assembly came, to the following resolution:

"The exclusive right of hunting, and of open warrens, is equally abolished, and every proprietor shall have the right to kill, or cause to be killed and destroyed, on his own possessions only, all sorts of game; all rangerhips, even those that are royal, and all reservations for pleasure, of whatsoever kind they may be, are abolished; that provision shall be made, by means compatible with liberty and property, for the personal pleasures of the King."

CANTERBURY, Aug. 18.

The Reputation of Mr. Spillsbury's Anti-Scorbutic Drops, is daily evidenced in the extraordinary cures performed thereby, and the numerous applications bates in the Marybone Club, whether the striker were fairly out; and a violent altercation ensued the night after the news arrived in the country, between the Clark, the Cobler, and the Curate, who each contended for the honour of perpetuating his memory in the following Epitaph:

C L E R K.

Here lies the Cricketer, poor Louch, We hope his bones do well lie, His zeal for catching balls was such, He caught them in his Belly.

C U R A T E.

Good master Louch, down here doth crouch, A Cricketer so staunch, That vex'd his hands should miss the ball, He caught it in his Paunch.

C O B L E R.

Death minds a Krikkettur no more, Than we does kracking nuts, Louch could not stop the ball before He catcht hur in his Guts.

Extract of a letter from Tunbridge Wells, Aug. 13.

"This fashionable Watering-place, which has been for some years past on the decline, is much better frequented this season than the last. The present warm weather greatly exalts the virtues of the Mineral Springs, and consequently has a visible effect on the spirit of those who drink the waters, either for pleasure or health.

"Our beauties here, are Lady Georgina Bulkeley, Miss Dyke, Miss Clarke, &c. We have also Miss Watson, daughter of the late Admiral Watson, who is "an Argosy laden with wealth," having 90,000l. to her fortune, which with herself—and she is very young and very pretty—she can throw into the arms of any of the young men of fashion who surround her.

"Among the suitors of Miss Watson is Lord Carberry. Lord Teynham, and the Hon. Mr. Roper, seem to be equally attentive to Miss Tryon, to whom a considerable legacy was bequeathed by the late Mrs. Betenson, sister to the Baronet of that name. Miss Tyrrel, Miss Ashton, and Miss Jeffereys, have also large fortunes, and are much followed.

"Mrs. Baker's Company have been remarkably successful this summer, as it is the fashion for Ladies of rank to order plays, and on such occasions to bring all their friends to the Theatre."

Last week came on, before Lord Loughborough, at Lewes, in Suffex, the trial of Mr. Pardoe's coachman, who, after a hearing of four hours, was found guilty, and sentenced to twelve months imprisonment.

On Saturday night or early on Sunday morning, the following very fatal and melancholy accident happened on the road between Folkestone and Dover: A post chaise belonging to Mr. Harvey, returning from Hythe, the driver supposed to be riding within-side the chaise, most unfortunately, either by the darkness of the night mistook the road, or by the violence of the weather, drove over the cliff into the sea. The boy was next day picked up dead, the chaise broke to pieces, and some parts of it floated away; the horses are not yet found but are supposed to have been driven to sea.

On Thursday last was married, by special licence, at the seat of Thomas Powys, Esq; of Lilford, in Northamptonshire, Christopher Naville, Esq; to Miss Mann, niece to the late Hon. Sir Horatio Mann.

A few days ago was married at Sevenoaks, Mr. William Bowra, silversmith, to Miss Arnold, daughter of Mr. Henry Arnold, draper, both of that place.

Friday morning died at Maize-hill, Greenwich, Edward Russell, Esq; who had been many years in the commission of the peace for the county of Surry.

Last week died at Deal, Mr. Michael Haines, master carpenter, of that place.

Wednesday was married Sir Patrick Blake, Bart.

CANTERBURY, Aug. 18.

The Reputation of Mr. Spilbury's Anti-Scorbutic Drops, is daily evidenced in the extraordinary cures performed thereby, and the numerous applications for this extraordinary Medicine, of which another large supply of the Five Shilling Bottles is now received at our Printing Office, in Canterbury.—Persons who are afflicted with either the Scurvy, Gout, Rheumatism, Evil, Ulcers, &c. and who bathe or drink the sea water, will find these Drops a great assistant in restoring their healths.

HOP PLANTATION.

After the various changes that our Hops have undergone for some months past, of the event of which the most accurate observers could form no certain judgment, we may with much truth inform the Public, that from the present sickly state of the Plantations, our crop must be very short. On Sunday evening we had a strong wind to the North East, which still continues, and is very unkindly to the bloom. The prices last week were, Bags 8l. to 8l. 8s. Pockets 8l. to 8l. 15s. but we hear this day the prices are advanced. The Duty at our Market on Saturday last was done at 50,000l.

Extract of a letter from Southwark, Aug. 12.

“The prices of Hops now are, Bags 7l. to 10s. up to 18s.—Pockets 7l. to 8l. up to 8l. 10s. per cwt. “The accounts in general from the plantations are bad, and the Duty is laid at 56,000l.”

Great sport is expected at our ensuing Races — We hear the following Horses are already arrived at Bridge Hill, and many more daily expected.

Lord Egremont's Driver, 6 yrs old.
Mr. Freeman's ch. horse Woodlark.
These two are to run for the King's Plate on Tues- day, another is also expected.
The following Horses are for the different Plates.
Lord Egremont's brother to Driver, 3 yrs old.
Mr. Bird's br. mare, by Budrow, 4 yrs old.
Lord Sondes's b. colt, by Eagle, 4 yrs old.
Lord Sondes's br. filly, 3 yrs old.
Mr. Hampton's br. colt, 4 yrs old.
Mr. Brown's Young Mark, 5 yrs old.
W. Baldock's br. h. Speculator, 5 yrs old.
W. Baldock's b. colt Sheriff, 4 yrs old.

The race on Barham Downs yesterday, between Mr. Hampton's chestnut colt, and Mr. Brown's brown horse, drew together a very large and respect- able company. After the first heat, which was won by Mr. Hampton's colt, Mr. Brown drew his horse. The odds at starting were 6 to 4 in favour of the winner.

This day a Grand Match of Cricket commences at Bourne Paddock, Kent against Hampshire, for One Thousand Guineas.

We are happy to hear that the report of Mr. Louch being killed last week at Bourne Paddock, by a ball from the point of the bat, struck with such force that it lodged in his body, is void of founda- tion. Yet the melancholy tale occasioned some de-fide the chaise, most unfortunately, either by the darkness of the night mistook the road, or by the violence of the weather, drove over the cliff into the sea. The boy was next day picked up dead, the chaise broke to pieces, and some parts of it floated away; the horses are not yet found but are supposed to have been driven to sea.

On Thursday last was married, by special licence, at the seat of Thomas Powys, Esq; of Lilford, in Northamptonshire, Christopher Naville, Esq; to Miss Mann, niece to the late Hon. Sir Horatio Mann.

A few days ago was married at Sevenoaks, Mr. William Bowra, silversmith, to Miss Arnold, daugh- ter of Mr. Henry Arnold, draper, both of that place.

Friday morning died at Maize-hill, Greenwich, Edward Russell, Esq; who had been many years in the commission of the peace for the county of Surry. Last week died at Deal, Mr. Michael Haines, master carpenter, of that place.

Wednesday was married Sir Patrick Blake, Bart. of Langham-hall, Suffolk, to Miss Phipps, of Bury. The letter of Juvenis being written evidently to re- commend the work he alludes to, must be paid for at an advertisement.

On Friday last was finished playing at Bourne Paddock, the Grand Match of Cricket, Kent against Surrey, (with Noah Mann given to Surrey) for One Thousand Guineas, made by Lord Winchelsea and Sir Horace Mann, which was determined in favour of Surrey. The following is an accurate out ballast, off Mutton Cove, opposite the gun-wharf, at North Point, was so loaded with people, who, in spite of all remonstrances, crowded up the masts, when she overturned, and not less than thirty persons perished. His Majesty's barge had passed by some minutes before, consequently he was not witness to this dreadful catastrophe!

Wednesday the long depending battle between Sodicky, a Jew, and a Whitechapel Butcher, was fought at Chinkford Hatch, near Epping Forest, in the county of Essex, for 100 guineas a side—Johnson seconded the Jew, while Joe Ward, a brother cleaver, backed the man of slaughter!

There were three or four desperate sets to, before any odds appeared in favour of either combatant; but at length victory seemed to favour the Butcher, who knocked the Jew down like an ox at every stroke.

At last Johnson charged him with having given a foul blow—a violent blow immediately succeeded, and the partizans of either side claiming the laurels of the day, the battle here terminated!

The concourse of people present on this occasion was incredible! Not a coach, chaise, cart, or hack, within miles of Whitechapel, but was called forth on this respectable occasion; and sums to a very considerable amount were betted on the issue of this savage conflict!

Humphreys is recovering apace; though not so quickly as to enable him with safety to fight in October, according to his proposition to Mendoza.

Last Friday a match at Cricket was played, on the Flat near Brighton; the duke of York on one side, and Colonel Tarlton on the other; who chose eleven each, one innings, which was not played out for want of time. The Duke's side fetched in their innings 292; Colonel Tarlton's 70, having five wickets to go down.

The same Gentlemen play again on Wednesday for 100 guineas; Colonel Tarlton to have Streeter the Miller.

Wednesday was married at St. Michael's, Cornhill, by the Rev. Mr. Dawes, Rector, the Earl of Massereene, to Madam Mary Ann Barcier.

On Monday morning last young Gordon was executed at Northampton. He was taken in a mourning coach to the place of execution, having first received the sacrament with his mother. A hearse attended, and the surgeons humanely delivered him to his distressed old father for interment. The concourse of spectators upon this occasion was exceedingly numerous, and his fate greatly lamented, as he suffered for protecting his aged father; though only nineteen, he died with great fortitude.

C A K E S,

For making of SHINING LIQUID BLACKING,
For SHOES, BOOTS, &c.

THESE Cakes make, with the utmost Ease, by the Addition of Water only, a most excellent Shining Liquid Blacking, much superior to any hitherto known; it gives the finest Black and most beautiful Gloss to the Leather, yet never renders it stiff or hard, but, on the contrary, prevents its cracking, and preserves it soft, pliable, and mellow to the very last, whereby it is rendered more agreeable to the Wearer, as well as much more durable; it is perfectly free from Smell, and the Shoes that are blacked with it will neither soil the Finger in putting on, nor the Stockings in wearing.

Sold Wholesale and Retail only, by W. BAYLEY, Perfumer, in Cockspur-street, near the Bottom of the Haymarket, London. Also appointed to be sold by SIMMONS and KIRBY, at Canterbury; W. Gillman, Printer and Bookseller, Rochester and Chatham; Long, Deal; Ledger, Dover; Burgels, Ramsgate; Doorne, Faversham; and by the News-men.

CANTERBURY, Aug. 21.

We think it necessary to inform the Public, that up (having been there near 36 hours) sent to the hospital. His behaviour since, has been so refractory and insolent, that he received 400 lashes.

We are favoured by a correspondent with the following particulars respecting the melancholy of the post-boy inserted in our last:—On evening last, the lad took up at the Ship, several passengers for Folkestone, at which he arrived about eleven o'clock, and set the post down at the Folkstone Arms; it being then and the wind blowing hard, with heavy shower rain, the landlord of the inn endeavoured to persuade the driver to take off his horses and stay the night; but the lad being determined on returning home, he was advised, to avoid the weather, to ride in a chaise, which he said he would do after he was in town; he observed that he had not been in bed several nights and was very much fatigued. supposed he fell asleep soon after he left the inn, and the horses taking the summer road, which the post-boys have made for the convenience of driving, and which in many places runs very near the precipice—by the track of the wheel it is supposed the carriage had gradually inclined for the length of twenty yards, from the regular wheel track to the edge of the cliff, and the darkness of the night rendering the horses insensible to their danger, probably the first knowledge the poor fellow had of his dreadful situation was by the blow that fell upon his forehead, and the lower part of his face was open from one jaw to the other. The next morning he was discovered hanging with his arm round the stump of a tree, about 60 feet down; the horse was some distance lower, dead and very much bruised, and what was very singular, totally disengaged from their harnesses and collars. The chaise was broken into numberless pieces.

It is proper to observe, that the regular turnpike road is very good, and quite removed from the danger to which people are exposed on the other.

On Saturday last, as Mr. Benjamin Wood, Frinthead, was gathering cherries, he fell from a ladder and was very much bruised, but is now in fair way of recovery.

Last week was married at Hollingbourn, by the Rev. Mr. Hassel. Mr. Edward Wraith, cordwainer of that place, to Miss Elizabeth Lampard, of Ramham.

A few days since was married at Rochester, by the Rev. Mr. Mac Court, master of the sign of the Victualler's office public-house, to Miss Rebecca Jetter, of Chichester.

A few days since died, after a short illness, aged 64, Mrs. Charnock, of Northfleet.

CANTERBURY, Aug. 21.

We think it necessary to inform the Public, that an Act has passed, and which takes place from the fifth of last July; that all Carts constructed and used for the purpose of pleasure, or to be let out to hire, shall pay the yearly Sum of Three Pounds Ten Shillings, and if any person uses or lets out the same without being entered, they are liable to a penalty of Seven Pounds.

There are two horses at Bridge Hill to start for the King's Plate, and another is expected this day or to-morrow.

Among the very numerous and respectable visitors at Sir Horace Mann's, are the Duke of Dorset and the Marquis of Titchfield, eldest son of the Duke of Portland.

Extract of a Letter from Lewes, Aug. 10.

"Thursday night last, as the crew of a smuggling cutter, laden with spirits and tobacco, were employed in running their cargo, by means of their boat, which they had sent on shore near Eastbourne, laden, they were surprised by the Stag custom-house cutter, belonging to Chichester, the officer of which dispatched a boat, well manned and armed, to make a seizure of the smuggling boat; but the smugglers seeing a number of country people coming, as they supposed, to their assistance, resolved on maintaining their cargo; which the crew of the Stag perceiving, hove nearer into shore, and fired many shots over the smugglers, with a view to bring them to a quiet surrender; but this not producing the desired effect, they then fired into the boat, and killed one of the smugglers, named Jesse Colman, on the spot, and desperately wounded two others, when they made good their seizure, and sailed with it to the Westward."

At Maidstone, Hollingbourn, and Leeds, &c the harvest promises well, but some of the hops are very indifferent about those places; on the hills they are very good.—Great prices have been offered and refused, up to ten pounds, &c.

The John and Margaret, Effington, from Sunderland, with coals, ran a shore on Monday morn-ning of a tree, about 50 feet down; the horse some distance lower, dead and very much bruised, and what was very singular, totally disengaged from their harnesses and collars. The chaise was broken into numberless pieces.

At half past seven they arrived safe at Saltram, and were highly gratified with their day's excursion.

Yesterday being the birth-day of his Royal Highness the Duke of Clarence, it was observed by all ranks of people with great spirit and attachment.

This day their Majesties and Princesses spent in a private manner, enjoying the beauties of this elegant spot.

L O N D O N.

On the 2d of August, the Prince of Orange went to the Texel, to examine the constructed harbour, and to review the Squadron under Admiral Kingsbergen, consisting of four sail of the line, and five frigates, previous to their sailing on a cruise to the North Sea.—Captain Bentinck and Captain Hawkins were at the Texel, and attended his Highness round the Squadron.

The Princess of Orange is safe arrived at the House in the Wood, from her tour to Berlin.

The cruelties practised at the country seats of the French Nobility are horrible, and almost past belief—they are too shocking to be recounted.

A few days since, the mob, at a place called Argentan, attacked the castle of the Marquis de Falconnet, the lord of the place. They seized him, and were for burning him alive, when his executioners began to quarrel among themselves, which saved his life, though not until his two feet and one of his hands were burnt off. The mob then made him sign a deed, renouncing his estate and title, observing, that, as the King had arranged himself among the Commons, they would no longer have Lords in France.

The fate of the unfortunate Baron de Bezenval appears decided: though the Committee on his examination has made no report; orders have been given to have him most narrowly watched for fear of an escape, and three Burgher officers sleep in his room every night.

The loan of thirty millions fills very slowly. Thursday afternoon his Royal Highness the Duke of Gloucester had an interview with the Duke of Leeds, at his house in St. James's-square.

Yesterday morning the Purser of the Asia East Indiaman, Captain Faulks, arrived at the East-India House, Leadenhall-street, with the agreeable intelligence of the safe arrival of that ship, off Portland.

The Asia left St Helena the 3d of July, and brings word that

The Raymond, Captain Smedley,
The Duke of Montrose Captain Dorin,
The Bridgewater, Captain Parker,
All from China, had left St. Helena the same day; as also

The Dublin, Captain Smith, from Bengal; and that the Airly Cattle, Captain Stuart, the only ship that is expected to arrive from Bencoolen this season, was to sail the day after the Asia.

A letter from Portsmouth, dated August 23, says, "Yesterday arrived at Spithead, the Solebay, of 32 guns, Captain Holwell, from Antigua, with the Lieutenant-Governor and family.

"This afternoon arrived, the Europa, of 50 guns, Commodore Gardner, with the Expedition, of 44 guns, from Jamaica.

In the Commodore's ship came home, David Parry, Esq. Commodore of the Fleet at Barbadoes.

Monday morning died, at his seat at Harton, the Right Hon. James Maitland, Earl of Lauderdale, Viscount Maitland, Lord Thirlestane, Musselburgh, and Bohon, Heritable Royal Standard-bearer of Scotland, Baronet of Nova Scotia, and formerly Lord Lieutenant and High Sheriff of the county of Edinburgh, and one of the Lords of Police.

His Lordship was the eldest of eight sons of Charles sixth Earl of Lauderdale, by the Lady Elizabeth Ogilvie, daughter of James Earl of Findlater and Seafield, the last Chancellor of Scotland. He was born in the year 1718, succeeded his father in 1744.

On Monday evening an alarm of fire, at the Theatre Royal, Margate, fortunately without any occasion, was the cause of a dreadful confusion. In a moment all was alarm and horror, fire being called from one inconsiderate person, threw such a general consternation as is undefinable. Many persons were slightly hurt by the rushing of people to get out. Some gentlemen endeavoured, and with success, to stop the fears of the audience. Mr. Hastings, whose lady requested the play, was greatly instrumental in quelling the tumult, by remaining with Mrs. H. in their places. One of the actresses, Miss Twiddy, in her fright, attempted to jump from the stage to the pit, and run one of the iron spikes thro' her foot.—Gen. Even.

On Friday evening last we experienced a very violent storm of rain, accompanied with thunder and lightning; the rain was more powerful than has been recollected for many years past; fortunately its continuance was not long, or the effects might have been dreadful; in about half an hour, it had perfectly deluged the road leading to Bridge, so as to render it very dangerous for carriages to pass. The body of the Cathedral was likewise covered with a sheet of water, in about half an hour, to the depth of 14 inches. The torrent in the Bridge road, near this city, besides considerably damaging the road and washing down the hedges, destroyed a large quantity of lime on the premises belonging to Mrs Slodden. We do not hear of any other material damage being done. The storm came from the West, and was heavily felt in London. The same morning it passed over Herne, Margate, &c but was only partially felt up the road, and round Maidstone.

On Thursday last died at Dover, Lady Louisa Field, wife to Sir Charles Ventus Field, Knt of Campton, in Bedfordshire, and daughter of the late Dr. Reynolds, Lord Bishop of Lincoln

Sunday evening last died, at his house at Northdown, near Margate, Richard Seckett, gent. in the 73d year of his age.

Sunday morning died Mr. Henry Minter, farmer, of Ash.

The Receipt is inadmissible.—The Hint respecting Deep Water, is applicable only to the Party addressed.

By the French Mails we learn, that the confusion and disturbances in the Provinces become every day more alarming; the People every where are discontented, and the National Assembly still indecisive in its measures.

The city of Guise, on the 24th of last month, was visited by several brigades of robbers, who committed every possible excess. They threw several into the river, and were at length subdued by the great activity of the Commandant of the Garrison.

By the same channel we learn, that the Russian and Swedish fleets had a second action on the 28th and 29th ult. and that the latter afterwards got into Carlscrone, where it now lies.

The National Assembly of France have agreed on additional articles to the following effect:

"The free communication of thoughts and opinions is one of the most precious rights of man: every citizen may, therefore, freely speak, write, and print, responsible only for the abuse of this liberty in cases provided for by the law."

"The protection of the rights of men and citizens renders a public force necessary. This force, therefore, is instituted for the advantage of all, and not for the particular emolument of those in whose hands it is entrusted."

"For the maintenance of the public force, and the expences of government, a general contribution is indispensable; which ought to be equally divided among all the citizens, in proportion to their means."

Nothing can be more dull or uninteresting than the greater part of the debates of the French National Assembly; instead of establishing certain grand constitutional principles on a liberal scale, they are debating on petty resolutions to humble their Sovereign, and make him feel his situation as much as possible.

The Court of Directors have agreed to take up thirty-one ships for the Company's service for India for this season.

They are to be destined as follows:

Eight to Bengal; twenty to China; two to Bombay; and one to Bengal and Bencoolen. Some of the China ships are to touch at Madras; and two of them are to proceed to St. Helena, with provisions and stores for the use of that island.

The above ships are taken up on the following terms:

To China direct, per ton	23	10	0
St. Helena and China, and Madras and China	—	—	—
Bombay	—	24	10
Bengal	—	25	10
Bengal	—	26	10

The ships which are above 800 tons burthen, are taken up at one pound per ton less than those which are under that tonnage.

In addition to the above, the Company have engaged the ships which are to transport the convicts to New South Wales, to take in teas at Canton, at 10l. per ton. This is a great saving both to Government and the Company, as the ships would otherwise have been obliged to return without any cargoes, the East India Company having the exclusive privilege of trade in those parts; and it is somewhat remarkable, that although these ships are employed in a national service, yet they are obliged to have a licence from the East India Company, their charter extending to all places Eastward of the Cape of Good Hope.

On Wednesday last the Governors, &c. of St. Luke's Hospital for Lunatics held their anniversary dinner at the London Tavern, Bishopsgate-street, at which were present the two Vice-Presidents, Stewards, Secretary, and above 80 Governors, Visitors, &c.

His Grace the Duke of Montagu is President of this Society.

The two Vice-Presidents present were, Christ. Puller, Esq; and Charles Freeman, Esq.

The Stewards for the present year are as follow: Robert Darrell, Esq. Robert Snow, Esq. John Everth, Esq.

themselves, one of them says he saw a tree, about a yard from him, entirely stripped of its bark by it, and a field of potatoes almost totally laid above ground.

Same day, at Twynholm-kirk, a girl about 12 years old, while standing at her father's door, was struck dead by the lightning; the house rent from top to bottom, and the furniture otherwise materially damaged."

Joseph Lawton, alias Jumping Joe, John Nutcher, and Henry Martin, were brought before Nicholas Bond, Esq. on Saturday, and went under a long examination on a violent suspicion of being the three persons who broke into the house of Richard Saumarez, Esq. surgeon, near Parsonage walk, Newington, (as mentioned in our third page.) They were all committed to different prisons.

CANTERBURY, Sept. 1.

Extract of a Letter from London, August 31, 1789.

"Our accounts to-day are more unfavourable of the coming crop, and great complaint of the mould-encreasing, so that many people think the Duty will fall much short of what it is laid at. Our markets are better for prices than they were the latter end of last week, when we think the fall was too rapid.— It is expected fine hops will this year fetch a high price."

John Cottin, and William Hougham, Esqrs are appointed Stewards of the Race for the ensuing year.

The week is not yet fixed for the Races on Barham Downs next season, but we are happy to find they are to be revived on a more extensive and spirited plan than ever. Three additional Sweepstakes are already subscribed to, one of which is for Gentlemen's Hunters, and bears a very respectable list of names, and many more are expected.

The Subscriptions to the Sweepstakes are for two years.

Extract of a Letter from Chatham, Aug. 27.

"The keel of the Ville de Paris, which when built, will be the largest ship in England, is nearly completed.

"The beautiful new first rate, the Queen Charlotte, now on the stocks, draws many strangers to this place. The carved work of the head, and stern, which is remarkably well executed, and handsomely painted, produces a very fine effect.

"The Europa and Expedition, arrived at Portsmouth, from the West Indies, are expected here to be paid off.

"On the 22d of June died, at Jamaica, Lieut. T. Wheeler, of this division of Marines."

A very extraordinary single game of Cricket was played on Tuesday and Wednesday last, in the Roebuck Field near Maidstone, between Boorman and Woollett, for a hundred guineas.

Boorman went in first, and had 213 balls; he made 168 hits, and got no less than 126 runs, when he was bowled out.

Woollett's first innings was decided by a single ball; he then went in for his second, and got seven runs in the eight first balls; the ninth, he was again bowled out; consequently Boorman won at a single innings, by 119 runs.

On Wednesday last was taken at Frittenden, by two harvest men, Martin Hunt, the noted horse-stealer, who broke out of Maidstone gaol on the preceding Monday evening, as advertised in this paper of Tuesday last, and was safely conveyed back to the above gaol.

Last week died at Maidstone, Miss Anna Knight, daughter of Arthur Knight, late Rector and Vicar of Newchurch, in Romney Marsh. She bore a long and painful illness with a becoming patience, and viewed her approaching end with a degree of fortitude worthy of imitation.

Friday last was married at Dover, Mr. Thomas Nanton, to Miss Mary Wraight, both of that town. Early on Monday morning died at Faversham, in

ROYAL DOG KENNEL.

The Prince's Dog Kennel is designed by Mr. Holland. The facade is to be simple---what little character there is, rustic---and the materials, the same beautiful Hampshire brick that fronts the Marine Pavillion. The internal parts of the building are to be paved.---Water in sufficient abundance is to be laid through the whole building; with wells, drains, &c. An eating room; a sleeping room; recesses for sick dogs; an airing yard; a room for the Huntsman, another for the Whipper in, form the plan.

EXECUTION.

Saturday se'night were executed at the Old Heath, near Shrewsbury, pursuant to their sentence at the last assizes, Thomas Phipps, Esq, the elder, and Thomas Phipps, the younger (father and only son), of Llwyny maplis, for forging, and uttering a note of hand for 20l. purporting to be the note of Mr. Richard Coleman, of Olwesty, knowing the same to be forged.

Mr. Phipps, and his son, from the time of their condemnation till the morning of their execution, persisted in their innocence: however, before they left the Gaol, young Phipps confessed that he committed the forgery, avowed his father's innocence of it, and ignorance of it being forged, when published.

They were taken in a mourning coach to the place of execution, accompanied by a Clergyman, and another pious person, who had attended them almost daily, since their condemnation. On their way to the fatal tree, the father said to the son. "Tommy, thou hast brought me to this shameful end, but I freely forgive thee." To which the son made no reply.

It being remarkably wet wheather, the devotions were chiefly performed in the coach.

When the awful moment arrived that they must leave the sable vehicle, Mr. Phipps said to his son, "You have brought me hither, do you lead the way;" which the youth accordingly did, and in the most composed manner ascended the ladder to a temporary scaffold, erected on purpose, followed by his father.

When the devotions were finished, and the convicts tied up, they embraced each other, and in a few moments the executioner let down the scaffold, and they were launched into eternity, amidst a vast concourse of deeply affected spectators, beholding a parent and child suffering an ignominious death, for violating the laws of their country.

Mr. Phipps was in his forty-seventh year, and his son just twenty years of age two days before his execution.

The fate of these unfortunate gentlemen is not so much lamented, on account of several similar matters appearing against them, and not a little aggravated, when it is considered, that Mr. Phipps was possessed of about 300l. a year landed property, he s'ide his practice as an attorney.

Mr. Phipps has left, to deplore his unhappy fate, a widow and one daughter, a most amiable young lady, about 16 years of age.

WEYMOUTH.

Friday, September 11.

THEIR Majesties and suit took to their barges yesterday morning at half past ten o'clock, for a sail in the Southampton; this little trip was not attended with any thing new---the frigate stood off and on in the Bay with her august Visitors on board, till past three o'clock.---Little winds prevailed most part of this day's excursion. In the evening the Royal Family walked the Esplanade.

The Princesses begin to feel a reluctance on the day of their departure from hence drawing so near; it will at once deprive them of numberless pleasing amusements, as their partiality is excessive for water parties. On Monday they set off from Weymouth, and the men of war sail for Portsmouth the same day their Majesties take their route for Bath.

LONDON.

Dispatches were received in town yesterday morning, from Paris. Tranquility is now positively restored to that city; and the measures adopted there, being ordered by the General Assembly, at the Hotel de Ville, to be prosecuted in other parts of the kingdom, are likely to have the same desirable effect.

These accounts further say, this is the most necessary, from the alarm which some of the public creditors, particularly the Genoese, who have large sums of money in the French funds, have taken, lest the Government should be totally overturned, the reigning family be obliged to seek an asylum in some foreign country, and public credit be wholly destroyed.

Mrs. Fitzherbert lays much indisposed at Brighton, with a sore throat.

Sir Joshua Reynolds has been voted 200l. from the Corporation of Lynn, for the portrait of their Mayor.

The Empress of Russia has prohibited the importation of foreign merchandize by land; the Government of Catharinoslaw, and the States of the house of Austria, are expected in this prohibition.

The Spanish Flotilla, destined to make discoveries, sailed from Cadiz the 30th of July.

The Swiss soldiery, disbanded by the French Revolution, draft off into the service of Prussia and the Dutch.---Portugal has just applied also---and probably not too late.

The American Arnold, as the report goes, feels the same military ardour, and is following the example of Col. Fullarton, in going into the service of the Porte.

The Porte has had additional propositions of peace from the Imperial Courts.---But notwithstanding the late loss against the Prince of Cobourg, the Turks yet seem inclined to continue the war.

The probable profit on a continuance of the war, resolves itself into a question of geography.---If the Turk narrowed his line, and acted on the defensive at home, and by pecuniary intrigue turned his operations to the Austrian Netherlands, the consequences are obvious, and almost certainly in his favour.

A letter from Genoa, dated September 1, says, "An universal consternation prevails here on account of the affairs of France; so great a part of the wealth of our chief citizens being deposited in the actions and funds of that nation. In order to relieve the great distress which such disasters are likely to occasion. The Doge and Senate have just published a Gazette Extraordinary, importing that the affairs of the French are coming into a train of order, and that no losses are likely to accrue. This has in some degree raised the public spirits, much depressed before."

The following speech was delivered by Nicholas Tripe, Esq; on Thursday the 27th ult. before their Majesties and the Princesses, at Ashburton, on the arrival of those illustrious personages at that town, in their road from Saltram to Weymouth:

TUESDAY, Sept. 22. NATIONAL ASSEMBLY.

Saturday, Sept. 12.

THE BARON DE VINCK informed the Assembly, that a correspondence was carrying on, and a sort of confederacy entering into by the different regiments of the kingdom, for the purpose of forming a new military constitution. To prevent the ill effect to be apprehended from any proceeding of this sort by the military, without the concurrence of the legislature, he proposed appointing a Committee to draw up a plan for the organization of the army, to be submitted as soon as possible to the consideration of the Assembly. The motion was referred to the Bureaux.

Monday, Sept. 14.

The Election of a President came on according to rule, and the Members were :

M. Clermont de Tonnerre, was, therefore, re-elected, and made his address of thanks.

No vote of thanks was proposed to the Bishop of Langres though he was present.

CONSTITUTION.

It was resolved without much discussion, that the sixth article, as proposed by M. Guillotia, should stand part of their fundamental Constitution, viz.

6. That the Assembly, on each re-election, should be re-chosen in toto.

The next article was then ordered to be read.

7. In case of the dissent of the King, shall his suspensive veto continue in force for the duration of one or two legislatures.

M. Barnave complained that the order of the day was changed; and that they should proceed to decide, whether the arrests of the 4th ult. should be submitted to the royal sanction or not; and he accordingly moved, that they should deliberate whether it shall be definitively ordered, whether the arrests of the 4th and 5th of August, should or should not be submitted to the royal sanction.

M. le Chapillier moved an amendment, "whether the King should order the promulgation of these arrests."

On this question the whole morning of the day was occupied.

M. de Mirabeau thought that they stood in need of no sanction. They were not so much laws themselves, as the principles of laws; the constitutional basis of those laws which they were about to frame.

M. de Virieux averred, that without the consent of the King, they would be null. An honourable Member said, that the Clergy had been attempting to inflame the provinces, by circular letters, and by misrepresentations. This the Abbe de Montesquieu endeavoured to disprove.

The Abbe Maury, with his usual spirit, was violent against the patriot proceeding. He said that all those who used to pay taxes were armed, and all those who were now deemed to pay were unarmed. That they must not publish incoherent laws; laws which had not been considered, but which had been the fruits of enthusiasm.

M. Peytion replied to this speech with great spirit, and with found argument; and the question was postponed to the next day.

LONDON.

It is said to be in contemplation by the Board of Admiralty, to erect a suitable monument to perpetuate the memory of the unfortunate Capt. Cooke. The seeming neglect of this has often been mentioned as a matter of regret; and we think with the rest of mankind, that it is the smallest tribute of respect that ought to be paid by his country to the name of that great circumnavigator.

The Bank Directors on Thursday declared the half year's dividend to be three and a half per cent. Mr. Stock proposed, that the discount should be reduced to four per cent. as at the present discount of five per cent. there was little or no business; and it would require much activity of trade to support so great a dividend.

He was answered, that there was little business in the discount way, either for the Bank of England, or the bankers, and that, in this particular, they pose.

They still persisted and were ordered to the condemned Cells.

About three hours afterwards, and a few minutes before the Court adjourned, Mr. Villette, the Ordinary of Newgate, informed the Court that he had visited these deluded men; and had prevailed on them to alter their sentiments;—they had therefore commissioned him to implore the forgiveness of the Court for their obstinacy, and intreated that they may be permitted to accept of the mercy of the Sovereign.—The following is a list of their names, viz.

John Robinson	George Heyser
Thomas Newby	Thomas Massinger
And James Dawson.

The Court received their contrition, and sentenced them to transportation for the Term of their natural lives.

Three, however, still persisted in their refusal to accept of the King's conditional pardon, preferring their former sentence of—Death.

They were ordered to their condemned cells, and informed that they will be executed as soon as the Sheriff can be prepared. The names of these obdurate convicts are, William Davis, Edward Crowther, and Thomas Watson.

The Session was then adjourned to the 28th of October next.

CANTERBURY; Sept. 25.

Sunday the Right Hon. William Eden, (now Lord Auckland) passed through this city from Madrid to London; as did on Friday Viscount Palmerstone, from London to the Continent.

We hear from New Romney, that Cholmeley Dering, Esq; second son of Sir Edward Dering, hath lately been presented with the Freedom of that Corporation.

Extract of a Letter from Dover, Sept. 21.

"Last night arrived at the Ship Inn here, from her house in Lower Brook-street, London, the beautiful Mrs. Hodges, in a neat phaeton and four, driven by herself; and about ten this morning Capt. Bagster set sail with the lovely freight, attended by a gentle, favourable gale, for Calais, in her way to Brussels. Though it must be admitted there are situations wherein female accomplishments seem to shine in a more natural sphere than in rivalling the feats of Phaeton, yet frigid and prudish in a degree little to be envied, must be the feelings of those who could see this charming woman, and the exquisite skill and ease with which she managed her four beautiful hunters, with any other sensations than that of delight."

On Sunday last the chapel of Greenwich hospital, which has undergone a ten years repair, in consequence of the devastation made by the fire in 1779, was opened, and divine service performed in it.

The return match of Cricket between Boorman and Clifford, for 150 guineas, on which very considerable bets were depending, was played on Berstead-green; and won by Boorman.

The grand match of Cricket played in Bourn Pad-dock, between the Allington Club and the Bourn and Bridge Club, was decided on Saturday afternoon in favour of the Bridge and Bourn Club by seven wickets.

FRIDAY, Sept. 25.

LONDON.

WEDNESDAY morning His Majesty came to town early from Kew, in order to be present at the levee at St. James's. As soon as his arrival was known, the bells in Westminster were ordered to be rung, it being the first time of the King's return to town since his summer excursion.

It was particularly observed by every person at Court how extremely well his Majesty looked;—better than those who have been accustomed to see the King of late years ever remembered. His countenance bore the strongest marks of full health and spirits.

His Majesty was a long time in conversation with Mr. Pitt, and did not leave St. James's till half past three o'clock.

On account of the shortness of the notice, the levee on Wednesday was not numerously attended.

Lord Auckland, late Mr. Eden, is arrived from Paris, and went yesterday to St. James's in the Duke of Leeds' carriage, accompanied by his Grace.

The Duke of Clarence came from Richmond at twelve o'clock to see the King, and withdrew about two o'clock. In the evening he returned to Richmond.

On Friday the Duke of Clarence gives a grand dinner at his apartments at St. James's.

The Princess Royal whose taste for landscape drawing is highly esteemed, has made a beautiful sketch of Mount Edgcombe.

The Duke of Clarence has taken a house in Hertford-street, May Fair, which he is furnishing with great elegance.

“ William your Coat don't fit you—it fits awkward about the shoulders—pray who is your Taylor? ”—“ I don't know, Brother—I think it fits well enough. ”—“ To this the Prince said “ let me lend you my Taylor; ”—the Duke replied “ Is he an Englishman—for I am —, Brother, if ever I let a Frenchman draw a thread for me, when I can find a Briton that will do it. ” This may be relied on as a fact.

A negotiation of some importance is now on the tapis between our Court and the States General of Holland. So much secrecy is, however, observed, that nothing material transpires.—It is said to be one of that kind which will require being brought before Parliament for their concurrence.

A Bill is said to be in preparation to make it felony in the receiver, as well as the utterer of base coin. They will effectually put a stop to the circulation of bad halfpence.

The Tobacco Bill, which begins with the quarter, will, by Mr. Pitt's management, add at least another 100,000l. or 150,000l. a year, to the Exchequer.

A Court of Directors of the East-India Company was not held on Wednesday, as was expected, owing to several of the Members being in the country; but to-day there will be one held, when the business that was to have been transacted on Wednesday, will be taken into consideration; the time of the ships being afloat will be finally determined, as also the respective times of their sailing.

Letters in town say, that the Americans have brought some hop plantations in that State to such a degree of perfection, that they have begun a Porter Brewery on a very large scale, with materials the produce of that State, which is likely to turn to the best account, and has almost entirely put a stop to the importation from foreign countries.

CANTERBURY, Sept. 25.

We hear there is a new Comedy preparing at the Theatre Royal in Margate, called The Merry Men of Kent; it is the production of a young gentleman of fortune, and has received the sanction of the Lord Chamberlain.—Those who have been favoured with a perusal speak of it in terms of the warmest praise. The characters are well drawn and highly finished, the fable pleasant and interesting, the dialogue pointed, and the moral chaste and instructive.—From the uncommon attention of the Manager, who is a most excellent caterer for the public, the lovers of the Drama may expect the highest gratification.

The first Hop Market this season was attended by a pretty large company, and some business done.

Extract of a Letter from London, Sept. 21.

“ Our Supply of Wheat to day was pretty large, the sales being 2574 quarters; many of our new samples being cold, occasioned some old parcels very fine to fetch 1s. more than last Monday; fine new samples sold freely but without any advance.

Fine Old Wheat — 53 to 56

“ In consequence of the arrival of two or three small cargoes of Dantzick old Wheat, of which 4 or 500 quarters sold to day at 5s. to 52 per quarter, the average price was reduced 7d. under last Monday.—Fine old or mixed households sell pretty freely at 42 per sack. Middlings 32 to 39; fine 40 to 50 per quarter. Bran 10 6 per quarter.”

On Monday last a numerous and respectable body of the electors of Canterbury, consisting of 220 persons, assembled at Bourn Place, according to invitation from Sir Horace Mann. After an excellent dinner, Sir Horace addressed his company in a speech of considerable length, in which he paid many flattering compliments to this city, and in the most pointed terms, disavowed all intension of opposing the present Members at the next or on any future election. As the speech was nearly to the same effect as that addressed to the Corporation, and which was inserted in our paper of last Tuesday, we forbear giving it at length.

The hospitality of Sir Horace on this, as on every other occasion, was conspicuous, and the handsome and disinterested manner in which he expressed himself, inspired all present with the greatest respect for his character.

On Lord Sydney's Manors at Chislehurst, Orpington, and the Crays, there has been more partridge this year than in any preceding season. His Lordship allows the neighbouring gentlemen to kill what game they please, and he employs a game-keeper who cannot take down a bird. This is the true mode of preservation.

Extract of a Letter from Chatham, Sept. 22.

“ Yesterday was presented to Charles Proby, Esq; Commissioner of his Majesty's Navy here, for to be transmitted to Philip Stephens, Esq; a petition addressed to the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty, from the Warrant Officers of his Majesty's ships of the fifth and sixth rates, at the Ports of Chatham, Sheerness, Woolwich and Deptford, praying to be allowed servants, during the time their respective ships continue in ordinary, in the same manner as they are allowed to the officers of the higher rates.

“ The principal new work is the Ville de Paris, which will not be finished for many years. The Rattlesnake, a sloop of 16 guns, goes on briskly.

“ The ships repairing here are the Invincible, Monarch, Assistance, and Pandora; the latter of which will soon be out of dock.

In Brussels every thing wears the most gloomy aspect. In the houses of the Duchesses of D'Arenberg, Ursel, and the Princess de Ligne, there are guards of 50 men. Neither of them move without a grenadier behind their coach. An Englishman was, within these few days, arrested for speaking somewhat freely at a Table D'Hotel. All letters are opened; and some which seemed likely to spread bold and offensive truths, have been carried to the different Hotels, to be compared with the hand-writing of the strangers (who are obliged to enter their names in the books of the Hotel) that the Author might be detected.

Letters from Vienna, dated October 22, inform us that, at the departure of the post, it was asserted that Orsova was taken; and that the Grand Vizir, at the head of 30,000 men, was again defeated, and compelled to pass the Danube.

That modern Mackheath, D'Arcy Wentworth, was on Saturday last, under safe convoy, sent once more from Bow-street, with a letter of recommendation from a Magistrate to the Governor of his old lodgings at Clerkenwell. His activity in speaking to two gentlemen on Hounslow heath, procured him this mark of magisterial attention. He is to have another audience at Bow-street, on Thursday; one of his companions now in the Middlesex Hospital, much wounded in the exploit, will be brought up at the same time.

TYTHE, GAME, and EXCISE LAWS.

SATURDAY Evening next, Nov. 14, the following Question will be discussed:—

“Which is the greatest Infringement on the Liberty of the Subject—the TYTHE, GAME, or the EXCISE LAWS.”

Chair taken at a Quarter before EIGHT.

The last Meeting was very numerously attended, and the Show of Hands on the Division nearly equal.

On Friday last passed through this city in his way from Spa, the Right Hon. Lord Heathfield. A party of light dragoons (of his own regiment) now quartered here, were drawn up at the Corn-market, and saluted their General as he passed in his carriage. He alighted at the King's Head, where he was waited upon by the officers on duty, who were separately introduced to him. His Lordship appeared much fatigued with his journey, and seemed also to be in a very infirm state of health.

The Anniversary Meeting of the Rochester Revolution Society was held on Wednesday last at the Crown Inn, in that city, at which were present many of the principal Gentlemen in the neighbourhood, among whom were the Right Hon. the Earl of Darnley, Sir Horace Mann, Filmer Honeywood, Esq; Clement Taylor, Esq; John Amhurst, Esq; John Longley, Esq; (Recorder of Rochester) A. H. Shove, Esq; the Rev. Mr. Marshall, &c. &c.

The conduct of this meeting did the Stewards much credit, and the day was spent with that harmony which upon this occasion ought to unite all descriptions of people.

Among many loyal and patriotic Toasts were the following:

1. The glorious and immortal memory of King William III.
2. The King.
3. The Prince of Wales.
4. The Queen and Royal Family.
5. The staunch friends and supporters of the

It was unanimously resolved by the company, the meeting should be annual, and Sir Horace Mann, John Amhurst, Esq; Mr. Wildes, and Mr. Edward Ellis, were appointed Stewards for next year.

Extract of a Letter from Rungate, Nov. 4.

“Came in this day for shelter, the Nancy, John King, of Pool, from Woodbridge to Southampton, with beans, she lost one anchor and cable in the Downs.

“Brought in by the Dover men, the St. Joseph Animas, Juan, F. Delas Land, of Bilbao, from Bilbao to Ostend, with wool; she lost one anchor and cable off Dungeness, and split some sails.”

We hear from Yarmouth and that coast, of a number of shipwrecks in the late storm. Many colliers and other ships drove on the sand near Yarmouth and all the crews perished. A great many others drove on shore, and some of the crews saved. But the North coast affords at present a most distressing prospect; one collier belonging to Sandwich lost with all her crew; also one of Margate with part of the crew, the Captain died as they were bringing him on shore.

Yesterday morning two men, in the employ of Mr. Hacker, started from the Cross Keys, without the walls of this city, to run to the Halfway House on the Dover road, and back again, for a wager of a guinea to fifteen shillings. The man who laid the odds was beaten considerably by his opponent, who performed his journey in one hour and fifty minutes. The distance is fifteen miles.

On Thursday night the barn belonging to Mr. Dann, farmer, at Gillingham, was broke open, and two quarters of cleaned wheat and some new sacks stolen thereout.

On Tuesday last died Brook Samson, Esq; (above-mentioned) commander of one of his Majesty's packets at Dover.

Thursday last died Mrs. Gravener, wife of Mr. Doves Gravener, pilot, of Dover.

A few days since died at Wandsworth, in Surrey, after a long illness, Miss Frances Bates, second daughter of Mr. William Bates, late of this city.

On Wednesday last died at Strood, Mr. Higgins, ironmonger, of that place.

Saturday died in this city, Mr. James Friend, one of the Band belonging to the East Kent battalion of Militia.

In the next and succeeding papers will be inserted a List of Persons who have taken out Certificates for Killing Game in the County of Kent, for the present year 1789; also a List of Gamekeepers, with the Names of the Persons granting Deputations.

The Occasional Prologue to the Tragedy of the Gamester, from Sandwich, came too late for this Publication; it shall appear on Friday.
