

Two young boys, nine-year-old John Shirley and his brother Nicholas, are seen kneeling in their garden while digging. (See East Kent Diary on page 12.)

The following text is extremely faint and illegible, appearing as a vertical column of small characters on the left side of the page.

The following text is extremely faint and illegible, appearing as a horizontal line of small characters below the image of the cup.

The following text is extremely faint and illegible, appearing as a vertical column of small characters on the right side of the page, below the cup image.

227